PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

I am an Operations and Project Manager with experience spanning project delivery, marketing campaigns, client services, talent and influencer management, and day-to-day operations. I work at the point where strategy needs to become execution — translating campaign objectives into clear deliverables, coordinating stakeholders, managing expectations, and keeping projects moving from brief through to delivery. My strengths are communication, organisation and execution. I have managed a roster of 100+ influencers and supported the delivery of 80 campaigns across major broadcast and streaming brands, balancing client requirements, talent capabilities, timelines and campaign objectives. I also bring earlier operational experience across facilities administration, procurement, suppliers, budgeting and office administration.
